

COLORED WOMAN TAKES OWN LIFE AT COUNTY HOME

Family Troubles Seen as Cause for Rash Act in Note Found Pinned to Clothing of Suicide—Shoots Self With Pistol.

Katie Fletcher, 26, colored, took her own life at her home on the Taylor Mill pike only a short distance from Mayesville Thursday evening at about 10 o'clock when she fired a ball from a .32 caliber revolver through her right temple into the brain causing death almost instantly.

William Fletcher, her husband, was awakened by the explosion of the gun and discovered that his wife had been shot through the head. He ran to a neighbor's home and summoned a physician but upon his arrival the woman was dead.

The cause for the rash act is seen in a note found pinned to her clothing by Coroner Thomas Higgins. The note read:

"Dear Mama Fletcher, Ella Fletcher, Otis Fletcher and Maud Thomas, I wish you all the best of luck for separating my husband and I. Now I want all of you to work as hard to help him and his little children as you worked to make trouble between us. I would not make trouble between you and your husband. Don't let one accuse me of anything. I love him to death and as such thrown in his face. So God bless you all who caused me trouble and to live my little children, so help him.

KATIE FLETCHER.

"Wrote by me personally." Comparison of the handwriting of the note with other handwriting of the suicide caused the Coroner to determine that the note was written by the deceased. An inquest will be held by Coroner Higgins at a later date.

The suicide is the mother of four little children and bore the reputation of being a splendid woman and a good mother.

BOYD COUNTY BANK WINS SUIT AGAINST FEDERAL RESERVE

Independence of All State Financial Houses Said to Have Been Assured By Decision in Federal Court in Catlettsburg Case.

Catlettsburg, Ky., Oct. 20.—By an opinion handed down by Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran at Covington, the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Catlettsburg was sustained in the fight it has been making for the last two years against the Federal Reserve System.

The system, through its Cleveland branch, undertook to compel all state banks to submit to its rules and regulations of exchange, it was alleged.

A number of these banks in Kentucky and in the south protested against surrendering the right to operate independently of the regulations of the Federal Reserve Board, but one after another finally surrendered to the dictates of the board until only the Farmers and Merchants Bank of this city was left alone battling against what it considered the unwarranted demands of the Cleveland and other banks of the reserve system.

An attempt was alleged to have been made to coerce the local bank into submission through the employment of local agents who, under direction, presented at the counter of the local bank daily for payment in cash all items of exchange against it which had come to the hands of any of the Federal Reserve Banks.

The use of this means was resented by Ernest Meeks, cashier of the Farmers and Merchants Bank, who undertook to fight against the reserve system, with the view of establishing the right of state banks to operate in their own way without dictation from any source, and without regulation by any power other than the laws of the states under which they were created.

He caused to be instituted in the Boyd Circuit Court a suit against the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland and its local agent, whereby the Farmers and Merchants Bank sought to enjoin the Cleveland bank from exercising the means being practiced by it, which were alleged to be oppressive, coercive and inaugurated for the improper purpose of compelling submission to its claimed authority. This case was removed to the federal court, where a fight has been waged for almost two years, with the result that Mr. Meeks' contentions have been sustained by Judge Cochran, the Federal Reserve Bank permanently enjoined from interfering with the Farmers and Merchants Bank in the conduct of its business and restrained from harassing it through local agents.

COUNCILMAN DEMANDS THAT OFFICIALS ACT

Little Business of Importance Transacted by Council—Vice Mayor Dodson Demands Officials Do Duty.

Aside from appointing a permanent committee on arbitration of brick street and sidewalk assessments composed of Mayor Samuel, City Collector Summers and Councilmen Dodson, Davis and Harover, there was little of importance done by the City Council at the regular semi-monthly meeting held Thursday evening.

An ordinance authorizing the change of power used by the water company from steam to electricity was presented and received.

An ordinance restraining and preventing the establishment or continuance within the Fifth ward of the city any trade, occupation, business or manufacturing offensive to the public or dangerous to health, was presented and received by a vote of 7 to 4.

Mayor Samuel was asked to get bids on two car loads of coal to be used for distribution among the poor by the Alms committee.

Vice Mayor Dodson reminded council that their previous orders that persons required to have license be brought into court upon failure to comply with the law, had not been obeyed and he served notice that if these orders were not obeyed, he would prefer charges against the negligent officials.

REV. J. M. EVANS DIED THURSDAY AT HIS TEXAS HOME

Venerable Presbyterian Minister, for Many Years a Resident of This City, Died Thursday at Houston, Tex.,—Was Long Evangelist.

A telegram was received Friday morning from Mrs. Mattie E. Bruce, announcing the death of her venerable father, Rev. Joseph M. Evans, at Houston, Texas, Thursday night at 10:30 o'clock after a week's illness. He will be buried at Houston where his two children, Jos. Evans and Mrs. Mattie Bruce, live and where his wife, who was Miss Alice Humphreys of this county, preceded him to the grave.

Mr. Evans was eighty-six years old. He was a native of Nicholas county in this state. He graduated at Centre College, Danville, and later was educated for the ministry at the Danville Theological Seminary.

He had a very successful ministry, starting at the Presbyterian church at Mays Lick and ending at Houston, Texas, where he was in active service to the day of his death.

He was for many years an evangelist, preaching in many places in Kentucky and through Tennessee and other Southern states. There were few evangelists who received as many into the church, the numbers of his converts being very large.

LLOYD GEORGE QUILTS AS HEAD OF GREAT BRITAIN

Andrew Bonar Law Asked to Form a New Cabinet but Indications Are That Lloyd George Will Show Fight in New Party.

London, Oct. 20.—The resignation of Prime Minister Lloyd George was officially announced Thursday evening. When Mr. Lloyd George tendered his resignation to the King he advised His Majesty to summon Andrew Bonar Law, the Conservative leader, to form a new cabinet.

Andrew Bonar Law, started to choose his ministers today as David Lloyd George considered formation of a new party which would combine all Liberals under his leadership.

Lloyd George will announce his future plans at a speech at Leeds tomorrow.

Bonar Law, who accepted conditionally the invitation of King George to form a ministry, consulted leaders of the Unionist party, whose bolt from the coalition government yesterday caused the downfall of Lloyd George.

The Canadian-born business man who may become head of the next government is to give definite acceptance to his majesty if he is chosen leader of the Unionist party. This is regarded as a foregone conclusion.

Pending formation of a new government, the coalition ministry remains in control.

STEALS ROW BOAT; IS SENT TO THE PEN

Given Three Years at Hard Labor in the State Penitentiary for Stealing a Small Boat.

Vanceburg, Ky., Oct. 20.—S. Cleveland Tackett, of 2953 Stanton avenue, New Boston, Ohio, was tried in the Circuit Court here Tuesday for the stealing of a row boat from E. H. Green at St. Paul, Ky. The alleged theft occurred August 16th last.

On August 18th Green came down the river in search of his boat. He saw Tackett asleep on a flat boat, which was tied to the shore near Buena Vista, Ohio.

He obtained a search warrant and found his boat concealed under the flat boat on which Tackett was sleeping.

Tackett was arrested, brought to Vanceburg and lodged in jail where for want of bail, he has remained till he was taken out and tried and sentenced to three years at hard labor in the state prison.

James Cyrus, who was with Tackett and claimed to own the flat boat on which they were traveling, was also arrested and brought to Vanceburg.

It developed that a warrant was awaiting Cyrus here, and he was immediately transferred to Chillicothe. At Chillicothe Cyrus was tried for attacking the sheriff of that county.

Two John boats and several sets of fine harness were found in the possession of these men. It was discovered that a number of sets of harness had recently been sold by them to the farmers of this vicinity.

Most of this property has since been restored to farmers living in and around Chillicothe and Portsmouth, who came to Vanceburg and identified their property.

COMMENT

—Cider making's over and sorghum time's here. The best season to visit on the farm.

—The boys have by now about finished harvesting their crop of walnuts and they are just as proud of their brown stained hands as you and I were when we were of the walnutting age. Persimmons and paw paws are next.

—In looking over your wardrobe to get out the winter clothing, don't throw anything away. The City Mission will be mighty glad to have any garment you may want to discard. They are now having many calls from the poor and that old coat or dress may make someone happy and keep them warm this winter.

—Did you know that Maysville has one of the largest wood split pulley factories in the world, whose finished product is used in all parts of America and many parts of Europe?

—Do you appreciate that Maysville has the best street car system of any city its size in Kentucky?

—Can you recall some of the hardest rains we have had in this section? Remember W. J. Bryan's first speech; Barnum & Bailey's circus; Kryl's band concert at the first chautauqua on the old ball park?

—Women have been serving on the petit juries in the Lewis Circuit Court this term and the mixed juries have been mighty hard on bootleggers and moonshiners but they continue to make and sell "white lightning" in the hills of Lewis county.

—When we get Limestone bridge paid for, we may build that viaduct from the end of Third street to Forest avenue but if we are as long paying the balance on the bridge as we have been paying for what is now cancelled, it may be that our children will have to worry about letting the contract for the viaduct.

—Another newspaper has turned up its toes. The property of the Georgetown (Ohio) Gazette has been sold by receiver. We can see very plainly how it would be an up-hill job for another newspaper in Georgetown for we can't think of a better newspaper than "Billy" Ayler's Georgetown News-Democrat and it would take a real newspaper to buck the line Ayler presents.

—Competition is said to be the life of trade. We know that it has reduced the price of sugar in Maysville this week and considerably sweetened things up about town.

NEGRO POPULATION CENTER MOVES NORTH

Census Report Shows That Center of Negro Population Has Moved Considerably Northward.

Washington, D. C. — The Department of Commerce announces that the center of negro population as determined by the Bureau of the Census on the basis of the fourteenth census enumeration, taken January 1, 1920, is located in latitude 34 degree 46 minutes 52 seconds, and longitude 85 degrees 30 minutes 48 seconds, being in the extreme northwestern corner of Georgia, in Dade county, about 1 1/2 miles north-northeast of Rising Fawn town, and that for the first time in the history of the country this center has moved northeast, being approximately 9.4 miles farther east and 19.4 miles farther north in 1920 than it was in 1910. Its former movements have all been in a southwesterly direction. In 1790 it was located 25 miles west-southwest, of Petersburg, Dinwiddie county, Virginia, and one hundred years later, in 1890, it had moved southwest 463 miles to a point 15.7 miles southwest of Lafayette, Walker county, Georgia, the same county in which it was located in 1880. Between 1890 and 1900 it crossed the state line into Alabama, its location in 1900 and again in 1910 being in DeKalb county, Alabama. Its northeastward movement after 1910 has brought it back to the state of Georgia.

The northeasterly movement of the center of negro population between 1910 and 1920 is due principally to the great increase in the negro population of Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan. The total increase in the negro population of the United States was 635,368 and it will be noted that the increase in the northern states mention was 56 per cent of the total increase. This northward movement of the negro population was due mainly to the expansion of certain industries during the World War, the high wages paid being the great attraction. It is probably true that there was been a considerable return movement since the war, due to the depression in certain industries, and that a large number of negroes have moved south to their former homes.

Georgia Hale, who represented the city of Chicago at the recent Atlantic City beauty contest, will be seen in the William Fox version of Florence Bingham Livingston's novel, "The Custard Cup," which will be released

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanné Price

New York. — If children can't take their parents seriously, what are they to do? The story of the pot of gold at the rainbow's end seemed perfectly reasonable to Jimmy and Bessie Mar-der, of one of our more rural suburbs. Aside from it reasonableness, their parents had told them it was there. So they started out to find it. It took considerable searching to find them and bring them home again to their distracted parents; who have been trying in vain to explain their rainbow stories in the light of developments.

There is one indisputable way in which you can tell the old houses down in our Greenwich and Chelsea neighborhoods from the recent ones which have been built to look like them. The old ones have been refinished and the new ones built on old-time lines, but at one side of the front steps, you will find the key to the riddle of time. It's the mudscraper! Every one of the old homes, built when there were honest dirt roads instead of asphalt pavements, has the mudscraper at the side of the step, and neither studio windows nor any other

Innovation can offset that inevitable proof of age.

—NY—
Nora Bayes in "The Queen of Hearts" is the same old Nora who has always taken her audiences to her heart and made them love her. She proves once again that the reason she is never imitated is that no one else can possibly sing a song in the Bayes fashion. She will undoubtedly reign in her rightful role at the Cohan Theater through a long season.

Thirty-five million dollars was lost last year through forgery and check-raising, says the Forgery Prevention Bureau of this city. Of course, the forger looks at it from a different point of view and says that the $35,000,000 was made rather than lost.

—NY—
The protective instinct is born at an early age in some of our men. The four-year-old son of Mrs. Bessie Bergen, of West 98th street, got onto a crowded Broadway car with his mother the other day. As she clung to his hand with one of hers and to a strap with the other, he looked around with a troubled air, then plucked a man by the sleeve, and said in a clear voice, "Please get up and give my mamma that seat." It worked. Mrs. Bergen and the man both grew red with embarrassment, but Young Chivalry remained undisturbed.

—NY—
Sentimental emotions are decidedly boring to Ralph Amala. Maybe the fact that he is ten years old has something to do with that, but he's a harsh critic. He went to a picture show the other day, enjoyed the comedy reel and was getting along fine until they put on the feature picture, which proved, of course, to be a love story. Ralph didn't mean to be unkind, but he just couldn't help it, and he went sound asleep in the midst of the romancing. The theater attendants overlooked him and he slept on undisturbed until two-thirty in the morning when a passing fire-engine awakened him. Then he made himself heard and was "rescued." "What a terrible thing to do," exclaimed his half-frantic mother when he was taken home. "How could you?" "Aw, I don't mind. It wasn't a very good picture anyway," said Ralph.

Morris Gest, the theatrical producer, is hopped by any theatrical success has ever been able to make him. He is to see his family again after four years of effort to get them safely out of Russia and to America. In these four years, they have been little short of prisoners in Odessa, and Mr. Gest has made two trips to Russia in an effort to get to them, but was not able to get them no to get them out. He has just had word that his efforts to obtain passports for them have been successful at last.

STOP THE LEAKS—SAVE COAL—BE WARM AND COZY

To save money and coal, inspect your house, says the Commerce Department's Housing Division, and do these things:

Stop all unregulated drafts through the house.

Use storm doors and storm or double windows in cold climate, if practicable at least on the side of the house facing the prevailing cold wind.

Plug cracks around or in all windows and doors. Use felt, if necessary, under outside doors. Reset door hinges if necessary.

See that there are no cracks in window casings or between walls and casings, or between the sash. Tighten sash locks. Use putty and weather stripping where necessary.

Inspect windows and walls of attic. Dead air in an attic keeps the olver stories warmer. Plug up any openings from attic between walls.

In basement plug any openings from outside or between walls. Cover furnace and steam and hot water heating pipes, if practicable.
Close openings between walls and use newspapers under the carpets if there are drafts through the floor.
Study manufacturers' direction as to care of furnace. Replace cracked or broken grates. Examine dampers of fireplaces. When fireplaces and the stoves are not in use dampers should be closed. Clean chimney and stove pipes periodically or whenever necessary.
Lock windows when closed. Draw shades, if practicable. Turn off heat in rooms with windows left open and in unused rooms. Remember that good ventilation is possible without large openings.
Remember that thermometers are better gauges of heat than are the various members of a family, each with his own idea of want. Sixty-eight to seventy degrees is a normal, healthful temperature for a room in which people live.
Remember that these suggestions imply a possible saving of millions of tons of coal this winter.

BOLD FAKE IN OIL STOCK PROMOTION
Director of U. S. Geological Survey Calls Attention of Public to Fake.

A case of bare-faced misrepresentation by a company engaged in selling oil-stock is brought to the attention of the public by the Director of the U. S. Geological Survey. In the advertising matter of this company, in order to impress the reader with the belief that the government has endorsed the particular enterprise as a "sure thing," a map of the region published by the Federal Geological Survey is said to be reproduced. On the map is printed in the rather elaborate prospectus a route of supposed oil drainage extends from the St. Lawrence River, in Canada, southwestward across the Adirondacks and the intervening states to a point on the Mississippi River. Another route of presumed oil drainage is shown as extending from Lake Superior iron region across Wisconsin, Illinois, and southward along the Mississippi. A third route of drainage is mapped as extending from the Canadian boundary, in western Montana, through the Yellowstone Park, and heading in a bee-line, for eastern Louisiana. As is usual in stock promotion literature where such bogus maps are used to beguile the small investor, the three purported drainage routes unite exactly in the area where the company properties are located, which area in this particular instance lies on the east side of the Mississippi River in Louisiana. The title of this map reads "United States Geological Survey map showing center of the oil drainage of United States." On another page of their pamphlet under the heading "What Uncle Sam says about it," the promoters say "Look at the map which shows the result of the United States Geological Survey. The map was made from Plate I, Bulletin 429. This survey shows the oil drainage of the United States. As you can readily see, our holdings are right in the center of it. . . . The government geologists are unprejudiced and their conclusions are always regarded as authentic and final."

So far as the last sentence is true, Director Smith of the U. S. Geological Survey states without prejudice that his "final conclusion" is that the authors and makers of this prospectus are plain crooks. There is no resemblance or connection between the government may specifically referred to and the oil map of the promoters. Nor did the Geological Survey or any other authority ever publish such a "drainage" map. It is not only fraudulent and untruthful in every respect but absurd to the extreme. Judged by their advertising matter alone, the promoters are either crude crooks on their own account or the simple-minded dupes of their "experts." In either case they are not trustworthy advisers of the small investors to whom they make their appeal.

Lupino Lane, the celebrated English comedian who is now making comedies for the William Fox company, was not at all sure of his standing with the studio crew when he started the filming of "The Reporter," his first Fox release. Mr. Lane has played all over the world during his theatrical career and bumped up against all sorts and conditions of humanity. His inclination is always to meet all comers more than half way, when it comes to good fellowship among the persons with whom he is working. The first few days at Hollywood he did his best to show his associates at the studio that he was without any of the standoffishness often attributed to subjects of George the Fifth. At the end of the week he went back to his hotel and burst into his room where his wife was waiting his return. "It's all right, my dear!" he shouted gleefully; "the boys at the studio have begun to call me Nippy."

Tom Mix has started the production of "Shoe Bar Stratton," at the Fox West Coast studios. Will Beaudine is directing it.

DOUBLE MURDER REPORTED SOLVED.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 26.—The Hall-Mills murder mystery has been solved and the alleged slayers are under continuous surveillance of detectives, it was reported today.

Prosecutor Stricker, while not confirming this, admitted "decided progress has been made in the last week."

The atmosphere about the court house seemed to portend an actual arrest would be made soon. The lull in activity was taken to mean the investigators had about closed in on the person to whom the latest clues point as the murderer of the minister and the choir singer who were found slain on the unoccupied Phillips farm nearly five weeks ago.
